

Hello,

After a very damp May, we're looking ahead to what promises to be a warm and sunny June, and the first ever World Sand Dune Day is on the horizon!

On Friday June 25th, we'll be celebrating the beauty, biodiversity and heritage of our sand dune landscapes along with some of our friends at other sand dune conservation projects around the UK and beyond. It's a day that we're delighted to be establishing with our friends at Sands of LIFE.

Join us at your local dune site for activities like guided walks, photography workshops, yoga classes and bioblitzes, or sign up to join one of our online sessions, including a talk about bird life in the dunes. Click here to find out more about our World Sand Dune Day events. All our plans will, of course, be subject to covid-19 regulations.

Scroll down to find out more about what we've been up to at our dune sites, including removing invasive species like Clematis at Saltfleetby-Theddlethorpe NNR in Lincolnshire, and to meet some of our newest team members as we welcome cows onto some of our dunes.

We look forward to seeing you virtually, or on a dune soon!

Best,

The Dynamic Dunescapes Team

Removing invasive Clematis from our dunes in Lincolnshire

Clematis might be pretty in our gardens, but our Natural England team have been working hard to remove areas of it from an area of the dunes at Crook Bank at Saltfleetby-Theddlethorpe NNR in Lincolnshire.

So, why are we doing this? Read the blog to find out!
