

Hello,

It's officially the most wonderful time of the year and an incredibly busy one too for the Dynamic Dunescapes team! We've started new restoration works at several of our sites, including scrub clearance at Pembrey in South Wales and at Cleethorpes in Lincolnshire, and turf stripping at multiple sites in Cumbria. This time of year is great for scrub clearing and turf stripping so we're hard at work improving the biodiversity of our dunes, ready for spring.

We've also had a very exciting TV spot for our Cumbria team – People Engagement Officer Eve met with Simon from The Lakes with Simon Reeve to talk about dune wildlife. You can watch it on BBC iPlayer here.

Our blog has also been rather busy and there's plenty of Christmas events planned too. Scroll down to find out more and, as always, you can get regular updates when you follow us on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube.

With best wishes,

Emma

Read: Birds of Prey in the Dunes

Birds of prey play an important role in our ecosystems and are key characters in many of our typical countryside scenes - from tawny owls twit-twooing deep in a woodland to buzzards soaring over sunny fields. But have you ever thought of birds of prey being a part of our sand dunes? Check out our new guide to see what you could spot.
